Whether it's the height of summer or the depths of winter, with wool filled products from Fogarty, there's no need to change filled bedding with the seasons.

The weather outside the bedroom window can have a dramatic effect on comfort through the night. When the temperature drops, duvets don't seem to warm up. In the summer heat, hot and humid air can make pillows hot and sticky, and the night is spent turning them over. With its unique ability to regulate body temperature, wool filled bedding from Fogarty is the perfect solution to this problem.
The Fogarty wool duvet and pillow range is filled with super soft, fine sheep wool and encased in 100% soft cotton. Fogarty wool resists bacteria and fungus and even house dust mites, providing a cleaner and healthier environment for longer, helping to ensure an undisturbed night's sleep.

Made in two separate layers – joined around the edges of the duvet – providing an additional air layer for insulation and to help the duvet drape round your body. When the temperature is hot, moisture naturally escapes from the duvet, allowing the body to cool down quickly. In the colder months, wool fibres form a naturally insulating layer, keeping body heat under the duvet.

Jane Andersen, Assistant Brand Manager at Fogarty, said: "Fogarty wool products are not just perfect for winter; they're perfect all year round. Wool has natural thermoregulating properties, giving it the unique ability to keep you cool when it's hot, yet warm when it's not. The ideal all-year solution!

The Wool product range joins other popular Fogarty ranges: Naturals, Synthetic and Anti-Allergy filled bedding products. Available in single, double, king-size and super king-size and pillows, Fogarty wool filled products can be purchased from Dunelm Mill stores across the UK (prices starting from £24.99).
