ViewSonic’s new interactive displays to feature Tamaplace’s multi-room video conference solution.

ViewSonic Corp. (http://www.viewsoniceurope.com/uk/), a leading global provider of visual solution products, announces its collaboration with leading software provider, Tamaplace. The partnership will launch at ISE 2017 with TAMASHARE running on ViewSonic’s new interactive displays. ISE 2017 will be held at the RAI Exhibition and Convention Centre in Amsterdam, Netherlands from February 7-10, 2017.

“The launch of our new interactive ViewBoard at ISE 2017 marks the perfect time to celebrate our partnership with Tamaplace.The collaboration will allow our users to implement video conferencing, team collaboration and training from multiple rooms in a new and innovative way”, said Brian Wei, Director of Commercial Displays & Solutions, Europe. “We look forward to combining our expertise in the AV display market with a leading collaboration software company.” , said Brian Wei, Director of Commercial Displays & Solutions, Europe. “We look forward to combining our expertise in the AV display market with a leading collaboration software company.”

ViewSonic’s interactive ViewBoard, available in new screen sizes of 75” and 86”, is a key part of the company’s interactive flat panel (IFP) product line and is focused on providing dynamic collaborative solutions in the corporate and education sectors. ViewBoard comes with an embedded computer which provides users with easy installation and connection. Its 20-point touch response functionality makes ViewBoard a versatile collaborative tool that allows multiple users to interact on the panel simultaneously. This functionality, combined with the TAMASHARE software, enables the ViewBoard to increase interactivity, engagement and team collaboration.

"As a company focused on building the industry's most efficient, engaging and secure collaboration solution, we know the importance of having great displays as a center piece to conduct meetings or presentations,” said Yannick Brudieux, CEO of Tamaplace. “Our partnership with ViewSonic enables us to continue setting the standard for digital collaboration and video conferencing. Our collaboration at the 2017 ISE Expo showcases how well TAMASHARE collaboration software features work with ViewSonic displays in business settings."

Tamashare is the leading collaboration and video conferencing software for businesses, enabling greater collaboration within an organization by adding support for unlimited content sharing across multiple locations and devices. Up to 20 users can connect to a meeting room display via a WiFi/Ethernet network and share unlimited content from their laptops, desktops or tablets. Meeting participants can mirror their device screens and stream individual application windows, enabling instant collaboration.
