London – 9th August 2016 – Unified communications vendor, Swyx (http://www.swyx.com) has announced that it now has over 750,000 users of its products. The company with headquarters in Dortmund is one of the fastest-growing providers of IP and UC communication solutions on the market.

"We are proud to have far exceeded our ambitious targets. As a company with offices in Germany, UK and France, we are one of the few software developers of unified communications solutions for every size and application, from a single provider. Our services range from a modern on-premise IP-PBX to a cloud-based solution. This quality and choice is what has convinced our partners and ultimately our end-users" explains Swyx CEO, Dr. Ralf Ebbinghaus, "For us, the innovation behind our products and solutions is crucial. We rely heavily on continuous feedback from our partners and users into future development."

About Swyx

Swyx your business.

Swyx operates as a pan-European market leader via two-tier distribution and over 1,000 authorised resellers: the Dortmund based company with dedicated offices in the UK and France sells not only software solutions in six languages, but also has a range of suitable phones and other hardware devices in its product portfolio. Swyx's award-winning unified communications provides not only in-house (CPE) solutions, but also cloud-based variants with well-known partners: Europe already has 750,000 users that rely on Swyx, of which around 10 percent have chosen to use a cloud-based solution. The company currently employs more than 150 staff who are responsible for continually improving the SwyxWare solution for the communication requirements of today and in the future.
