To celebrate a record breaking summer for passenger rights, FlightCompensation.com is giving away an all-inclusive holiday of a lifetime worth over £5000!

In less than 12 weeks, since 1st June 2016, the FlightCompensation.com legal team have successfully recovered over £1.85million in flight delay compensation for almost 12,000 passengers.

To soften the blow of summer ending, Desmond Dodo and the FlightCompensation.com team are offering a lucky winner a week in Mauritius, home of the dodo, for an all-inclusive paradise holiday for two.

A 24 hour flight delay almost ruined Desmond and Delia's chance of true love but fortunately FlightCompensation.com came to the rescue – we're now looking to rescue someone else from the post-summer blues with this fantastic competition prize.

It's so easy to enter and there's nothing to lose!

A valid entry is simply someone commenting on the competition Facebook post (<http://bit.ly/2c65CG0>) stating if their flight was delayed by 24 hours who they'd most like to be delayed with.

The competition will be running until midnight on Friday 23rd September and the winner will be picked at random within 7 days of the closing date.
