A new Green IT Leader: Brand-Rex, a Leviton Company

Brand-Rex Limited, which was acquired by Leviton Manufacturing Company, Inc. in 2015, is a participant in the Green IT Amsterdam consortium now. Leviton's Network Solutions business unit, to which Brand-Rex belongs, is a global leader and manufacturer of structured cabling and connectivity solutions for network infrastructure and mission-critical applications.

Green IT Amsterdam is the unique cross-industry collaboration of 44 organisations for innovation and sustainability with the IT industry in the Amsterdam region. The organisation was founded in 2010 and initiated 12 large innovation projects and more than 65 events since then. In 2016 the consortium was recognised for its efforts, and nominated for a European Datacenter Community Impact award by Datacloud.

Established in 1972, Brand-Rex delivers world class network infrastructure solutions to support business-critical needs. Today Brand-Rex employs over 300 staff and has 10 global offices and a presence in over 50 countries worldwide. As part of the Leviton group they are now a true global supplier in their field of expertise.

With its continuous drive for innovation and quality, in house R&D teams, and commitment to environmental goals, Brand-Rex became the world's first network infrastructure provider to achieve the carbon neutral status in 2011. Jaak Vlasveld, director Green IT Amsterdam: "We have been aware of the environmental efforts of Brand-Rex for some time now, they have made a great journey to become carbon neutral from which others can learn. With Brand-Rex' focus on innovation we are certain we will continue this journey together and Green IT Amsterdam is very pleased to welcome Brand-Rex as an active participant.". Jeroen Loonstra, Regional Director Brand-Rex "At Brand-Rex we are very excited about joining forces with Green IT Amsterdam and believe that the sustainability vision and efforts of both organisations will lead to a greener and more sustainable IT infrastructure environment for us all".
