Flambard Williams, a Multi-Award-Winning Property Investment Specialist based in London, is proud to announce the appointment of DP World Tour professional Wilco Nienaber as a brand ambassador to the company. Due to this partnership, Flambard Williams is running a golf competition open to the public to celebrate.

The competition invites participants to film themselves hitting a long drive at a driving range using Trackman or a Trackman equivalent, ensuring they film the distance at the end of the video and upload it to winwithwilco.com to be shortlisted for the final. The closing date for entries is the 4th of June.

The final stage of the competition will be held at the Greenwich Peninsula Driving Range in London on the 17th of June, where participants will enjoy a great afternoon of fun, competition, and, of course, the final of the long-drive contest. At the end of the evening, one winner from each category (female and male) will be announced, and they will get to join Flambard Williams for a fantastic event at the Gleneagles Golf Estate on the 17th of July.

Wilco Nienaber, a South African golfing phenomenon known for his impressive distance off the tee, will join Flambard Williams on several events and golf days throughout the year, including trips to Gleneagles and Dubai.
