The Tech Trailblazers Awards, the first independent global awards, dedicated to enterprise tech startups, has announced that nominations for its 13th edition are now open.

The Awards, which cover 13 tech categories, as well as Firestarter, Diversity, Investment and individual CxO leadership categories, are designed to recognise, celebrate and promote the hottest enterprise tech innovation from young startups from around the world, yet without the time, hassle and expense of having to attend an expensive awards ceremony to claim an award, as is required by many awards programmes.

The Tech Trailblazers Awards scheme gives lean young startups the opportunity to have their innovation presented to some of the IT industry's leading experts in their field, reflecting its pioneering approach to enterprise IT awards. Now, in its 13th year, the scheme continues to focus on the ethos of finding innovation from anywhere in the world, from the smallest startups to more established players. This aim to highlight both up-and-coming and established talent from all regions, is reflected in the Firestarter Award for non-VC funded early-stage startups.

The categories for 2024 are:

- Artificial Intelligence
- Big Data Trailblazers
- Blockchain Trailblazers
- Cloud Trailblazers
- Containers Trailblazers
- Developer Trailblazers
- Diversity Trailblazers
- Female CxO Trailblazer
- FinTech Trailblazers
- Firestarter Trailblazers
- IoT Trailblazers
- Investment Trailblazers
- Male CxO Trailblazer
- Networking Trailblazers
- Security Trailblazers
- Storage Trailblazers
- Sustainable Trailblazers
- Telecoms Trailblazers

Rose Ross, founder and Chief Trailblazer of the Awards said: "We're delighted to open our 13th edition, which will be far from unlucky for some. We're looking forward to seeing all the great startups and innovators in enterprise tech who'll be participating this year. Here's to another great year for tech innovation from around the world."
