Logical Group, the UK-headquartered professional services and network integration company, has appointed Nigel Drakeford-Lewis as Logical Group Chief Financial Officer.

Drakeford-Lewis, an experienced Chartered Accountant and formerly Corporate Planning Director of Logical Group, replaces Jon James who has been appointed to the position of Chief Operating Officer of Logical Australia and will be transferring within the Logical Group from London to Sydney with effect of 2nd April

The Logical Group has revenues in excess of $550M and employs approximately 2000 people in 60 offices across 10 countries. Logical shapes, designs, deploys and manages IT solutions for organisations seeking to leverage next generation technology for competitive advantage and offers a service portfolio that includes business consulting, application and advanced network systems integration and managed network services.

“Our spectrum of services, underpinned by more than 10 years of experience in designing, deploying and managing advanced IT infrastructures means that the Logical Group is well positioned to become a leader in enabling organisations to compete in the fast evolving broadband economy,” said Drakeford-Lewis. “This new role is a very exciting opportunity,” he added.

Drakeford-Lewis was formerly Director of Finance and Administration at Arthur D Little UK, an international management consultancy, where he reshaped the finance, IT and human resource functions and developed new procedures to improve financial management and deliver savings on overheads. Prior to that he held senior finance positions at a number of blue-chip companies including Black & Decker and Grand Metropolitan.

He achieved a BA (Hons) in Economics and Accountancy from Exeter University, UK, and is a Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales. Married with two children, he lives in Berkshire, UK.
