Colin Gray Joins PentaSafe Security Technologies' as Vice President, Europe, Middle East and Africa

PentaSafe accelerates global expansion:

Farnham, UK – 11th March, 2002 – PentaSafe Security Technologies, a leading provider of enterprise security infrastructure solutions, today announced that Mr. Colin Gray has joined as Vice President of Europe, Middle East and Africa. Gray brings to the position over 20 years of senior-level management experience and expertise in European sales, infrastructure, and information management.

Prior to joining PentaSafe, Gray was Managing Director, EMEA of NetScreen Technologies, where he was responsible for the spectacular growth of their European business, contributing to their very successful IPO in December 2001.

“Joining PentaSafe was an easy choice. I am impressed with their vision, operation and their employees’ commitment to excellence,” said Gray. “I believe PentaSafe is perfectly positioned to make a significant difference in the enterprise security market. This is a space crying out for co-ordinated security management that addresses the people, policy and technology aspects necessary for true, policy-based security implementation. I absolutely believe PentaSafe will become one of the great information security technology companies.”

Douglas J Erwin, President and CEO of PentaSafe Technologies commented: “We are delighted to have Colin on board. With his experience in senior management and European sales, we are assured of the leadership necessary to grow our business. He will provide our management team with the international dimension that will help take PentaSafe to the next level.”

Prior to joining NetScreen Technologies, Gray held various senior sales management positions, including Strategic Development Director, Northern Europe for Network Associates International where he helped the organisation significantly grow its European revenues from both direct and indirect channels.
