London, 23 April 2002. Opodo, the new on-line travel portal, today announced that it will be offering special summer air fares to some of the best known Gay and Lesbian Mardi Gras and Pride destinations around the globe.

Jenny Taylor, UK Country Manager for Opodo said:

"I am delighted that we are offering incredible fares to each of these exciting destinations. Alongside great flight deals, Opodo has over 30,000 fabulous international hotels available to book through the site.

Mardi Gras is a unique time of the year and we know that an increasing number of revellers are choosing to combine the celebrations with a holiday.

To really make the most of travelling to such exotic destinations, Opodo also provides inspired recommendations on the best things to see and do if anyone decides to stay beyond the celebrations."

These special fares are available for travel to each of these destinations in good time for the celebrations:
