New technologies are transforming the working practices of thousands of British businesses. More and more organisations are recognising the benefits of implementing flexible working into their overall business strategy. Never before has there been such a need for products, services, help and support to make this possible.

The key to the success of a flexible working strategy lies with the IT department, upon whom the responsibility falls to turn the concept into a reality.

There is now an exhibition dedicated to helping companies interested in flexible working. Flexible Working Solutions Exhibition & Conference, takes place at Olympia in London on 18th and 19th of June.

Visitors to the show will see over 40 exhibitors, who lead the way in Flexible Working Solutions. They will provide all the products, services, advice and solutions needed to implement remote, mobile, wireless, flexible and home working, including the latest technologies from key players that can enable virtual teams anywhere.

Running alongside the exhibition will be the conference programme, where there will be the opportunity to learn from the experience of leading organisations- featuring speakers from BT, Nextra, Cygnet Solutions, Imagine Broadband and Captaris among others.

Featured at the exhibition will be an array of award winning products from: BT, Vodafone, Itronix, Hugh Symons Mobile Data, People PC, GemaTech, Telewest, Premier Conferencing and Tele 2, to name but a few. Be first to view a revolutionary wireless messaging system unveiled by PageOne Communications, or Intuitive Solutions latest product, MyAppointments.Net.
