inspireyourlife( <http://www.inspireyourlife.com> ), a unique lifestyle text messaging service, is working with Teletext Ltd (<http://www.teletext.co.uk>), the UK's leading teletext service, to provide lifestyle SMS alerts. The deal was brokered by SAYCON Ltd ( <http://www.saycon.com> ), a Mobile Concept Developers and Content Syndication Consultancy Firm, based in Harley Street, London. The service is powered by Eagle Eye Technology - Content Delivery Platform. ( <http://www.eagleeyetechnology.com> ).

The launch of this service coincides with Teletext's objective to extend reach and build on the success of its existing SMS services portfolio. At present, offerings in the lifestyle SMS marketplace focus on a limited number of lifestyle issues. Potential subscribers are poorly serviced, leaving a gap in the market for a new range of services that cover a broader range of lifestyle themes.

This brings a new perspective on the nascent lifestyle SMS information services market in the UK.

The service is being promoted on terrestrial analogue TV, Channel 4 Page 108 and will be available to Orange, 02 and Vodaphone subscribers. To subscribe, users text in a trigger text on a short code and will be charged 25p per message and receive one message daily until they unsubscribe. Users will have the choice of subscribing to any of the five message categories:

- Love and relationship
- Diet tips
- Motivation tips
- Secrets to Success
- Stress Buster

Susanne Mornan-Vaughan, Managing Director and Founder of inspireyourlife™, comments, "We are delighted to work with Teletext to extend the reach of their existing SMS services into the lifestyle space and tap into the market for female oriented SMS services. We look forward to implementing more innovative and creative SMS services with Teletext".

Yaa Adjaye-Kufuor, Managing Director of SAYCON Ltd adds, "This demonstrates Teletext's commitment to increasing their SMS services portfolio. There is an obvious increase in lifestyle TV programmes and magazines and the flexibility of this technology lends itself to support these mediums. With Teletext, and this innovative SMS lifestyle service via inspireyourlife, we are now able to encourage the population while they are on the move."

Alex Hampson, Commercial Development - Mobile, Teletext Ltd, comments, "Teletext already offer a wide range of SMS alerts services with over 65,000 subscribers, predominantly focussing on sport. The lifestyle alerts launched in conjunction with inspireyourlife™ and SAYCON Ltd are part of our commitment to offer the massive range of information for which Teletext is known to mobile users in the UK. ”
