

Wired Wessex and Six of the South's Leading

Submitted by: Wired Wessex

Wednesday, 14 May 2003

Wired Wessex, the organisation whose aim is to provide a support network for companies involved in New Media and ICT, is hosting a technology workshop in Poole, Dorset on Tuesday 12 June.

At the workshop, which is being held at Lighthouse, Kingsland Road, Poole, six leading local companies, including Hill Hamilton, ASR Designs and Domain Attraction will be providing the latest advice and top tips on how to maximise your business potential via the web.

Issues to be covered during the course of the evening include website optimisation, Flash, video conferencing, 3D, IPIX and making your website disability friendly.

The three-hour workshop starts at 6.00pm and anyone wishing to attend can register on www.wiredwessex.com. A £10.00 registration fee is being charged to Wired Wessex subscribers (£15 to others) and drinks and a buffet will be supplied.

Emma Shears, executive manager of Wired Wessex says of the event "We are very excited about coming to Poole. We've hosted several events in Bournemouth and are confident the technology workshop will be prove equally as successful. With so much information and networking potential under one roof this event is a must for companies involved in new media and ICT."

To find out more about the event please contact Carla Rowley – Wired Wessex - 01962 827457 or visit the website at www.wiredwessex.com

ENDS

About Wired Wessex:

Wired Wessex aims to match suppliers of new media and information communication technology services (ICT, the collective term for - internet, digital tv, multimedia and mobile communication) with the markets that can benefit from them - and vice versa.

With a geographic focus covering the Wessex region it offers conferences, workshops and informal networking events to encourage both the adoption and development of new media technologies.

Wired Wessex is supported by SEEDA, Hampshire County Council, Portsmouth City Council, Business Link Wessex, and King Alfred's College. It is part of the South East Media Network, a collective group of six local organisations supporting media companies in the South East of England.

For further press information, please contact:

Emma Shears – Executive Manager – Wired Wessex 01962 827602

or
Lyn Peters – 01730 231951