

Avoid unfriendly USA, travel magazine tells business travellers

Submitted by: Bob Douce PR

Thursday, 4 September 2003

---

Tough new immigration rules and mounting security measures are the tip of an iceberg of growing US hostility towards 'aliens' following 9/11, warns the business travel magazine TravelPlus in its September issue.

Innocent tourists and business travellers are being caught up in the fierce 9/11 backlash, as the USA escalates security measures in its war on terrorism.

TravelPlus Magazine cautions that growing official obsession with security across the Atlantic could create a xenophobic attitude among an American population that is normally welcoming and hospitable. Sensitive travellers, it warns, should think twice about flying to the USA – at least until the country sorts out its security problems.

- ENDS -

Editorial contact details: Nigel Coombs, Editor, TravelPlus Magazine

Tel 01474 566956

e-mail nigel.coombs@travelplus.co.uk

Issued on behalf of TravelPlus Magazine by Bob Douce PR, 43 Station Avenue, Coventry, CV4 9HR

Contact: Bob Douce

Tel/fax: 024 7646 1751

e-mail: bobdouce@doucepr.demon.co.uk