ICT Network installation specialist Intouch is celebrating the award of Krone Associate Installer status.

The Craigavon based company is a well-established service provide in the ICT sector and has achieved the premium status for a combination of factors that include quality standards, training record and history of technical expertise. Intouch can now offer the full range of warranties as part of the PremisNET™ portfolio of structured copper and fibre cabling systems.

Intouch's managing director Gordon Roberts explains: "Intouch has consistently delivered top quality for customers such as the NIO (Northern Ireland Office) Musgrave Park Hospital and C&W (Cable & Wireless). Associate Installer status is testament to the high standards we work to and the customer satisfaction we strive for."

With only 40 companies achieving Associate Installer status Krone's sales director Nick Norris is choosy on who holds the title. He explains: "We take a great deal of care to select only those companies whose work we can hand-on-heart recommend. The strength of the warranty we are offering through them gives the end user a comprehensive assurance and so we need to know their work is the best. Intouch has been rigorously examined and we are delighted to award them this hard-earned qualification."
