Zone Labs Wins Best Small Office/Home Office Security Solution Category in SC Magazine Global Awards 2004

San Francisco, CA and London UK - May 5, 2004—Zone Labs® Inc., the most trusted provider of endpoint security solutions, today announced that ZoneAlarm® Pro has won the Best Small Office/Home Office Security Solution category in the eighth annual SC Magazine Global Awards 2004. Zone Labs Integrity™ was also nominated as a finalist in the Best Enterprise Security Solution category.

The award was presented on April 27th at the SC Magazine Awards Ceremony and gala dinner held at the Grosvenor Hotel, Park Lane, in London.

The Best Small Office/ Home Office Security Solution categories was voted on by the SC Awards Council, made up of 100 senior information technology professionals around the world who understand the security challenges of large organisations, as well as small businesses, and recognise the potential cost for major disasters arising from security breaches.

“We are delighted that ZoneAlarm Pro has won this recognition,” said Frederick Felman, vice president of marketing for Zone Labs. “SC Magazine’s inclusion of two Zone Labs products further validates the critical need for strong endpoint protection across the board, from the large enterprise to the small/home office.”

Zone Labs' award-winning consumer solutions protect more than 30 million Internet users from Internet-borne threats including, worms, Trojans, spyware, malicious e-mail attachments and identity theft. ZoneAlarm Pro combines the strongest security, ease of use and powerful online privacy protection, including ad blocking and cookie control capabilities, with simple set-up for small or home office users.
