WEBLAW the IT, Internet and E-Commerce law service launches new website with WEBLAW Season Ticket

----Begins----

WEBLAW <http://www.weblaw.co.uk> has launched its "WEBLAW Season Ticket", a novel way for IT companies to budget for all the legal services they require at a fixed price.

The scheme which consists of Gold, Silver and Bronze levels is a service devised by Simon Halberstam, head of the Weblaw Group, which is the IT/e-commerce law group of City law firm, Sprecher Grier Halberstam LLP <http://www.sghlaw.com>.

Halberstam comments, "IT has become a far more complicated legal area and the chances of an IT provider being sued are far higher than they were a few years ago. The WEBLAW Season Ticket provides IT companies with a way to address legal requirements without fear of enormous invoices from their lawyers. IT companies can now reduce their legal fees by more than 50%"

The WEBLAW Season Ticket provides a legal hotline, attendance at meetings and numerous template contracts which WEBLAW® has created. It is the first time that such a fixed price service has been offered to IT companies.

Richard Wall, Finance Director of Advanced Network Technologies Limited, the company behind net-runna™ the revolutionary PC network management application, a WEBLAW Season Ticket holder says "Everyone in the IT world knows that contract negotiation is complicated and if corners are cut, things can backfire seriously. The WEBLAW Season Ticket provides a sensible way for IT companies to cover the legal angles without breaking the bank."

The WEBLAW Season Ticket launch has been scheduled to coincide with the relaunch of weblaw.co.uk <http://www.weblaw.co.uk>, the well known IT and e-commerce law resource website which now offers a wider range of fixed price documentation and more free information on related legal topics. For further information about the WEBLAW Season Ticket, visit <http://www.weblaw.co.uk>, email sghlaw@elementalpr.co.uk or call Simon Halberstam on +44 (0)20 7544 5595.
