Mr. McIntosh was attacked in his home. He sustained potentially fatal stab wounds to his chest, arms and legs.

As Mr. McIntosh had a Securahomes system fitted he pressed the "Panic Button" and was connected to the two-way voice communication monitoring station. The fully trained monitoring operator was able to speak directly with Mr. McIntosh and give him life-saving advice and at the same time, alert both the ambulance service and the police who were at Mr. McIntosh's house within minutes. (Please note, for security reasons an alias has been used)

Is Your Home Secure While On Holiday? Could your elderly relatives cope in the event of an emergency?

Will you worry about the security of the possessions and property that you left behind, as you travel or laze on some sun drenched beach or patio this summer? Then install a comprehensive 4 in 1 Securahomes On-Guard Security system.

*Intruder Protection * Smoke & Fire Protection * Medical & Emergency Panic Button, *Home Alone protection.

Almost daily, news reports demonstrate that you do not have to be especially wealthy, nor to live in a particularly remote location to be a target for burglars. But Securahomes has a fail-safe, home protection system to meet the threat and give you the peace of mind you need, to enjoy while away from home or on holiday.

Yorkshire-based Securahomes 24 hour monitoring protection has systems installed nationwide providing security to a wide range of clients, from the single home-occupants, family home owners, community centres, off licenses, petrol stations, working mens clubs, post offices, bookmakers, newsagents, in fact any premises that would benefit from intruder protection, 24/7 2 way monitored security. button, Securahomes regards their many testimonials from satisfied customers as a credit to the revolutionary virtually wire-free system, which is based on infrasonic technology and its sensitivity levels can be adjusted to be pet-friendly. The system, which connects smoke detectors, intruder alarm, medical panic/emergency panic button has an inbuilt auto-dialer and two-way communication, which once activated immediately dials through to the Monitoring Station advising the monitoring staff of what type of activation has occurred.

The Securahomes system is virtually wire-free and only requires a land telephone line and power point for connection.

In the event of false alarms, providing the occupant gives the correct password, the monitoring staff would record the fact and close down the activation and return to stand-by mode, ensuring that only genuine activations are reported to the various emergency services.

Securahomes monitoring not only provides occupants with protection for their absences but also for their return. The knowledge that someone is able to monitor their property at all times is very re-assuring, not only for the occupant but, in the case of the elderly living alone, for their guardian relatives.

Unique to Securahomes is the Emergency Home Repairs cover which is included Free of Charge. In the event of any unexpected events involving your home which requires immediate emergency repairs to ensure the home is safe and to avoid further damage help is at hand.

Europ Assistance will send a repairer chosen from their national database of approved tradesmen who will inspect the situation and carry out first-aid work in the event of burst pipes or sudden leakage, break in or vandalism, storm damage, impact damage, failure of your domestic water mains supply, your gas supply or electrical mains failure. Total failure of your central heating, a smashed toilet bowl, subsidence or loss of the only available set of keys.

For each claim Europ Assistance will pay up to a maximum of £500 per claim (including VAT) for emergency repairs to stabilize the situation and remove the emergency or to restore the normal operation of the boiler, warm air unit, comprising call-out, a maximum of 2 hours labour and up to £100 (including VAT) to cover parts and/or materials.

What does all this cost? The complete On-Guard Security system including Free Home Emergency Repairs cover is only £199 plus 67p per day monitoring charge.
