

Tamarix Consulting Sets the Stage for Further Growth

Submitted by: Tamarix Consulting

Friday, 23 July 2004

---

Expanding Capabilities

Building on two successful years of growth, Tamarix Consulting is expanding its capabilities taking on board Andrew Brown, former Director of European Consultancy Practice for Lucent Technologies.

Andrew joins Tamarix with over 30 years of technical, consultancy and business development experience in the Telecommunications industry within the UK, Europe and Asia Pacific.

On joining, Andrew commented, "Tamarix has proved its worth and capabilities by starting in a difficult market for Telecoms globally and growing from strength to strength. I have every confidence that this success will continue and I am fully committed to continue this growth in revenue and in satisfied customers".

Change at the top

Following the successful delivery of a series of Programmes with Cable & Wireless, and confirming the respect commanded by Tamarix's staff, Andy Morris has been asked to join Cable and Wireless to lead the development of its outsourcing support model. Andy will remain on the board of Tamarix as a non executive director.

Marco Massenzio, a Director and co-founder of Tamarix Consulting, will take over from Andy as Managing Director. Having led several consulting projects across Europe, Marco has a thorough understanding of the strategic forces driving the mobile and wireless data industries, and the technologies that are powering the "wireless revolution".

"I am looking forward to continuing our success", says Marco "which I believe is due to our very pragmatic approach to solving our Clients' business issues and focusing on very specific areas of technology. We believe in a no-nonsense, down-to-earth approach in order to deliver the maximum benefit for our clients".

Company Background

Tamarix Consulting runs technology and strategy consulting projects for clients in the Telecommunications industry. The Company provides professional expertise in the general field of network engineering and service provision, with particular interests in broadband and wireless networks.

Its staff has detailed knowledge of the technical, managerial and operational aspects of building, deploying and running telecommunications networks and has proven skills in establishing new entities from initial concept development and fund raising, through to implementation and growth management.

Enquiries

Enquiries regarding this press release should be directed to

Andrew Brown

t. +44(0) 787 675 7753

a.brown@tamarixconsulting.com

More information about Tamarix Consulting can be found at www.tamarixconsulting.com