

ENERJY SOFTWARE RELEASES EDITION 5b OF JAVA DEVELOPMENT TOOLS

Submitted by: Teamstudio Europe

Thursday, 29 July 2004

Enerjy Software, a leading developer of software tools, today announced the release of Edition 5b of its Java suite of tools. With the release of Edition 5b, all four of the tools in Enerjy's line up, which includes Enerjy Code Analyzer, Enerjy Memory Profiler, Enerjy Performance Profiler and Enerjy Thread Profiler, will now support Eclipse 3.0 and Japanese language developers. Furthermore, Edition 5b will offer support for Oracle JDeveloper 10g in Enerjy Code Analyzer.

Enerjy is a suite of modular Java tools that helps developers analyse and profile Java applications. The tools are easy to install, intuitive and help developers improve the quality of their Java code while increasing productivity. Individual tools are priced at EURO 354 / GBP 211 each. All Enerjy products include one year of maintenance.

Quote from Enerjy Software:

"Edition 5b is the latest evolution of the Enerjy family of developer-friendly products," says Nigel Cheshire, Enerjy CEO. "We pride ourselves on our commitment to continuous improvement based on feedback from the development community. These new features are a testament to that commitment."
