

Web hosting bargains to be had due to server upgrade

Submitted by: QiQ Communications PTY

Tuesday, 14 December 2004

---

Following a recent upgrade of hosting services, Internet consultancy QiQ Limited is offering a fully featured hosting package for £16.99 for 12 months hosting.

The package includes 100,000 MB of bandwidth each month, 10,000 MB of web space, unlimited email, ftp and sub domains and real time activation to get customers up and working at any time of day or night. A number of no-cost bonus features are also included which are useful for both business and personal use alike. For example, website templates, 22,500 photos, FrontPage extensions, mySQL databases and sub domains are all available at no extra charge.

QiQ first started offering web hosting services to its web development clients in 1998. Now, expanding to offer hosting as a standalone service backed up with professional and experienced support, QiQ offers a personal service to many clients around the world. For added confidence, QiQ are also offering full support and a 30 day money back guarantee if customers are in anyway dissatisfied with the service.

QiQ use Dell Servers and Redhat Enterprise Linux open source software which has been the number one choice for web hosting companies because of its track record as the most stable operating system available in the market today.

Full details of the special offer can be found online at www.qiq.co.uk/hosting.