

Studio to Go! Download Edition Now Available

Submitted by: Fervent Software

Monday, 28 November 2005

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

28th November 2005, United Kingdom

Studio to Go! - the Linux Audio platform that runs on your Windows PC - is now available for immediate download! Previously only available as a CD product you can now purchase the download edition from the Fervent Software website, download it via broadband, and burn your own CD-R of Studio to Go!

Studio to Go! is a suite of integrated music software that provides you with the ability to compose, record and mix on any PC without having to install any software. Studio to Go! runs from the CD and allows you to save compositions on your a portable storage device or straight on to your hard disk. This means you can use it any PC without worrying about compatibility problems or any fuss or mess!

Studio to Go! v1.50 includes the latest version of the classic Rosegarden sequencer, Ardour the digital audio workstation, an amazing new look for the Hydrogen drum machine plus the loop base sequencing and sampling software. There is also much, much more audio software as well as tutorials and example files, soundfonts, VSTs and a complete integrated help system.

Studio to Go! allows you to compose, record and mix with ease. All of the software included works together thanks to the amazing JACK audio system.

You can buy the Studio to Go! v1.50 Download Edition for £44.99GBP - requires broadband connection, 1GB of disk space and CD burning software. Alternatively you can order the Professional and Basic CD-based editions of Studio to Go! from the Fervent Software website - they're all ready to go and shipping now for Christmas!

Buy Studio to Go! at:

<http://www.ferventsoftware.com>

For more information please contact:

Email: info@ferventsoftware.com