

Fashion New Products And Wedding Site Launched www.somethingdifferentweddings.co.uk

Submitted by: Something Different Online
Monday, 16 June 2008

Something Different Online are celebrating the launch of their new site www.somethingdifferentweddings.co.uk which combines a Pot Pourri of Fashion along with a special New Product section in which we bring to you the latest new products recently and due to be released. These pages are armed with the goodies as soon as they are launched being added on a daily basis.

Looking for New Products along with Competitions.

The new website features a fresh design and simplified navigation.

The Guys – At last the Best road map for the grooms trip down the isle. From Extreme Sports Courses, Saucy Lingerie and more.

Fashion - With the Summer at last with us, the really warm weather fashions come out and of course all wedding guests want to turn up at their best. We provide all the top fashion sites bursting with summer ideas.

Directory: With its abundance of national and worldwide advertisers our Directory simply is the best with full details of companies offering wedding products and services.

News: This section is filled with the latest wedding news and views from around the globe and makes great reading.

Generous helpings of reader treats from competitions and free samples.

Constantly updated on a regular basis.

Something Different is one of the fastest growing wedding websites in the UK, with new content being added on a daily basis from wedding advertisers to new products just launched.

With the wedding season heating up, Something Different stands out from other wedding websites by the guidance it offers on all aspects of planning your special day, we pride ourselves with being able to add daily new products that of course all couples want to hear about as soon as they hit the shelves.

Our bright new wedding website adds to the wedding portfolio, we are confident that there is no other wedding website that comes close to the quality of Something Different For Weddings.

For more information, contact the something different online team at 01793 700566 or go to www.somethingdifferentweddings.co.uk for further details.