Prepare for the fight against pollen this summer

If you've already started rubbing your eyes in despair you'll know that the pollen has started to rise and the summer season is upon us. Of course, the best thing you can do is to be prepared. To help, we have two new weapons to add to your armour in the fight against pollen this year...

Firstly, we've developed a daily pollen forecast on the Optrex website. Simply log on to www.optrex.co.uk to see the pollen forecast for your area for a given day. It will be updated daily and you'll even be able to look back a few days to give you an idea of how pollen levels are fluctuating in your area.

So now we've helped give you an early warning to be prepared we can also help you get relief when you need it. New Optrex Itchy Eye Drops relieve irritation caused by pollen and contain natural plant extracts so can be used everyday, whenever you need them.

Because Optrex Itchy Eye Drops work directly at your eyes, they won't interfere with your usual anti-histamine tablets - so you can look forward to more complete relief this year.
