25th July 2008, London: Award winning price comparison site BeatThatQuote.com (<http://www.beatthatquote.com/>) announces that yesinsurance.co.uk has joined its insurer panel.

yesinsurance.co.uk is the trading name of yesinsurance Services Limited, a leading UK insurance provider, specialising in providing competitive car and van insurance for drivers of older vehicles, and for the second car in a household. yesinsurance searches more than 20 leading car insurance providers to find the best deals.

yesinsurance.co.uk also offers great car insurance deals for women and people looking for non-comprehensive insurance (e.g. third party fire and theft cover).

Commenting on the news, Paul Purdy at yesinsurance said: "We are always looking for the most effective routes to market and BeatThatQuote.com has quickly established itself as a leader in the price comparison space."

yesinsurance says that it offers particularly competitive premiums on insurance for cars that are over 5 years old – accounting for around 60% of the 31 million cars on Britain's roads.

Russell Bellamy, Head of Insurance at BeatThatQuote.com said: "We are extremely pleased that an instantly recognisable brand such as yesinsurance.co.uk has chosen to join the BeatThatQuote.com motor insurance panel. This brings us ever closer to offering a true 'one stop shop' solution to enable UK drivers to find a competitive policy regardless of the age of their vehicle."

With this latest partnership, BeatThatQuote.com continues its strategy of teaming with leading brands to extend its consumer offer, giving 2.5million visitors a month access to some of the leading insurance products and most competitive deals in the market. In April this year BeatThatQuote.com announced that it was driving 100,000 insurance quotes a month, representing a significant rise in insurance numbers since the beginning of the year.
