

Earn a bit of extra cash from those dusty pieces of china.

Submitted by: Velvet Integrated PR Limited

Tuesday, 9 September 2008

---

Credit Crunch: a storm in a tea cup?

There aren't many things in life that can't be resolved over a nice cup of tea and the credit crunch is one of them! Families feeling the pinch from the rising costs of food, fuel and mortgage interest rates can now earn extra cash by selling their tea and dinner services to Europe's largest china specialist Chinasearch (<http://www.chinasearch.co.uk>)

Chinasearch are the specialists in recycled (previously owned) and discontinued china, pottery, glassware and cutlery and they hold in stock fabulous antique, vintage, retro and contemporary patterns by well known brands such as Wedgwood, Villeroy & Boch, Marks & Spencer and Royal Doulton, to name a few.

To keep up with demand Chinasearch (<http://www.chinasearch.co.uk>) relies on people who are looking to sell their family china, glassware or silver, and employ 'dish detectives' to track down ceramic gems! So, if you have a quality British/European-made tea or dinner service getting dusty at the back of a cupboard and fancy earning some extra money, get in touch with Chinasearch (<http://www.chinasearch.co.uk>).

To sell your china is simple – either speak to Chinasearch (<http://www.chinasearch.co.uk>) direct on 01926 512402 or fill out a form online at www.chinasearch.co.uk and Chinasearch will give you a quote for your china. (The exact amount that you'll receive will depend upon the pattern and condition of the china.)

- ends -

For further information, or photography contact:

Joanna Wilmot or Rachel Rees, Jo Sensini PR, 020 8996 1801.

E-Mail: joanna@josensinipr.com or Rachel@josensinipr.com