

Cut back on Flower Miles this Christmas!

Submitted by: Hammond PR

Tuesday, 16 September 2008

Scented Narcissi, from the Isles of Scilly, are winter-grown, scented British flowers with great eco-credentials. In bloom between October and March, these wonderful, unique flowers are hand-picked by family growers in small traditional fields. They are multi-headed, 'star like' blooms with a beautiful natural scent, and they come in shades from pure white through peachy cream to intense yellows and orange.

Scented Narcissi are a very eco-friendly (<http://www.scentednarcissi.co.uk>) option as they are grown naturally outdoors in the open air so no heated glasshouses. Harvested by hand they travel just 28 miles to the mainland. They are also one of the few flowers grown commercially that have a fragrance.

The growers run their own direct delivery service at www.scentednarcissi.co.uk and by purchasing these flowers, people are supporting this cottage industry and British flowers.

We have new photography of the flowers on the Islands and they would be ideal for Christmas, Mother's Day and Valentine's Day gift features or for gift and interior pages.

For more information or images, please contact Stephanie Charteris or Carole Stewart at stephanie@hammondpr.co.uk or 020 7630 6633.