Now Uptown's London bed and breakfast offer is even bigger

There's a new addition to the Uptown Reservations' (<http://www.uptownres.co.uk>) 'family' of bed-and-breakfast (<http://www.uptownres.co.uk>) accommodation – just perfect for those occasions when you want to visit London with the whole family or as a small group with friends or business colleagues.

Handy for the new Eurostar terminal at London's St Pancras Station, a short walk from Bloomsbury and the British Museum, Regent's Park and the West End is a newly-renovated art deco building now offering the most modern and comfortable boutique-style four-star accommodation, exclusively available for you to book through Uptown.

With Wi-Fi and air-conditioning in all rooms, this superb accommodation includes breakfast choices from the full breakfast bar, and for evenings there's a licensed bar too, just right for relaxing in after a busy day. It's all wheelchair-friendly, too.

The welcome is warm, just as you would expect from Uptown's carefully-selected accommodation, but here there are more rooms available than generally at a host-home.

So now you can choose where you stay – as long as you choose Uptown!

Uptown Reservations offers bed and breakfast at this property for £140.50 per night double or twin, triple £153 per night. There is no single accommodation. These include a full English breakfast. Uptown Reservations' portfolio of luxury host-homes (www.uptownres.co.uk) offers bed-and-breakfast at £105 for a double/twin, £80 for a single, including private bathroom.
