

A HASSLE-FREE CHRISTMAS

Submitted by: 10 Yetis PR and Marketing

Tuesday, 16 December 2008

For those who are dreading the daunting task of tidying the house ready for the in-laws' arrival on Christmas day, or those who fancy earning some extra cash this festive season by offering their expert gift wrapping skills, here is the perfect solution.

Doing the Christmas shopping, tidying the house, wrapping Xmas presents and preparing the food; these are just some of the tasks that can take the fun away from Christmas, making it one of the most stressful times of year.

www.GetMyJobsDone.co.uk, a new and unique post-a-job website, offers the perfect solution to take the headache away from Christmas. Whether the house needs to be spotless in time for the in-laws' arrival or if the Christmas presents need wrapping, this website can help users get rid of their unwanted tasks.

Simply post any unwanted job on the website and let a willing candidate bid to do the job. After the job has been online for a chosen period of time, the lowest bidder wins, as long as the 'employer' deems them suitable.

However, if the credit crunch has bitten a big hole in Santa's wallet this year, why not bid to do people's jobs? Users can make some extra cash by wrapping presents, preparing the stuffing, tidying someone's house or dressing up as one of Santa's helpers.

Chris Elms, Managing Director of GetMyJobsDone.co.uk comments;

"Like many others, I dread the endless jobs that need doing before Christmas and GetMyJobsDone simply allows anyone to get rid of any job they don't want to do!

"Not only is this perfect for people like me, who have very little time to wrap the ever-growing bundle of presents, but also for people who are unable to do tasks like shopping or tidying; it just allows everyone to have a hassle-free Christmas at a fraction of the cost of hiring in professionals."

In addition, the site has a user score board, where previous 'employers' can rate the efficiency of 'employees' they have hired to do a task. So, if someone didn't turn up for a job they bid on, or didn't complete the job to a high standard, users can give them a low mark and leave negative comments; warning future users not to accept a bid from that person.

www.GetMyJobsDone.co.uk allows any individual or business to sign up for free and any job can be posted. Using specific criteria, such as region, job category and date of completion, 'employers' are able to post their vacancy on GetMyJobsDone, sit back, relax and wait for people to bid on the job.

The 'employees' are able to state how much money they are willing to do the job for until eventually, when various 'employees' have bid on the chore, the 'employer' will have the cheapest and best possible quote for the job.

ENDS

Editors notes:

For more information please contact Emma Stockley form 10 Yetis Public Relations Agency on 01452 348 211 or email on emma@10yetis.co.uk.

GetMyJobsDone.co.uk launched in June 2008

The website is completely free to use, whether you are posting a job or bidding for a job.

For more information visit www.GetMyJobsDone.co.uk

MEDIA QUIZ: Unbranded (so you can pass it off as a gift) prize for the first person to send the correct answer to emma@10yetis.co.uk

Finish this sentence: 'Ding Dong Merrily On.....'
