Avanquest Solutions would like all their Reseller Partners and Customers to know that following the takeover of Captaris, developer of server technology, by OpenText, provider of Enterprise Content Management (ECM), that business continues as usual.

Avanquest Solutions is the largest UK distributor Captaris products which include Alchemy document management, Workflow and RightFax. They have been helping customers to automate business processes using the Captaris suite for 16 years.

Chris Thompson, Managing Director, Avanquest Solutions said, "I am delighted by this acquisition. We have enjoyed a great relationship with Captaris for many years and now we are looking forward to broadening our engagement with OpenText. They are a dynamic organisation with an excellent pedigree and portfolio. Early discussions confirm that we are ideally placed to interact with them in the UK and we are looking forward to positioning them into our enterprise client base, to our long-term mutual benefit."

Avanquest Solutions manage information for all types of business. Customers such as Barclays Bank Plc, British Airways, BP, 10 Downing Street and National Grid Transco have saved costs and increased productivity using electronic fax, workflow and document management.
