

Guide to Cutting Costs With A Green Office

Submitted by: Shepherd PR Limited

Tuesday, 16 December 2008

---

Sustainability (<http://www.morganlovell.co.uk/sustainability/sustainable-workplace-services>) has always been about saving money – in the short and long term.

Rising energy costs and other economic factors make a compelling case for a greener workplace.

Now, Morgan Lovell – which specialises in cost-effective sustainable office refurbishment (<http://www.morganlovell.co.uk/our-services/office-refurbishment>) - has outlined the top 10 business reasons of going green, into one handy document.

Lara Conaway (<http://www.morganlovell.co.uk/ten-business-reasons>), Morgan Lovell's sustainability manager, said: "A company can make considerable financial savings by taking a green approach in the office.

"The document has been written to pull together some of the advantages in one easy-to-access paper and highlights some of the government incentive schemes currently in place in the UK.

"It offers a comprehensive overview and helps point businesses in the right direction to take positive action."

'The Top Ten Reasons To Green Your Office' is available as a free download at Morgan Lovell's website <http://www.morganlovell.co.uk/ten-business-reasons>

It joins another popular free download in the sustainability section at the company's website <http://www.morganlovell.co.uk/sustainability>. This guide offers a wealth of ideas – including small scale changes that can be easily introduced into the workplace - to make offices more cost effective and greener.

ENDS

Notes To Editors:

About Morgan Lovell

Located in London, Birmingham and the Thames Valley, Morgan Lovell is the UK's leading office interior design, fit out and refurbishment specialist. With its own teams of designers, surveyors and project managers, the company can design and deliver entire projects, with the benefit of just one point of contact. <http://www.morganlovell.co.uk>

It is part of Morgan Sindall plc, a top UK construction and regeneration group which operates through five specialist divisions of fit out, construction, infrastructure services, affordable housing and urban regeneration.

Morgan Lovell is a licensed BREEAM Offices Assessment Organisation. This means it is now licensed to measure the sustainability score of an office in order to identify ways companies can reduce high energy usage and waste, whilst increasing comfort and satisfaction for users of the building.

ENDS

Contact Jane Shepherd or Jo Foster, Shepherd PR Limited. Tel 01538 308685/308099. Mobile 07985 129315

jane@shepherd-pr.com

jo@shepherd-pr.com