When couples decide to marry, often the first decision to be made is "Where?...

Getting married abroad (<http://www.magicweddingsitaly.com>) has become an increasingly popular choice for couples looking to tie the knot. As the credit crunch bites and recession looms, this could be the perfect cost-saving measure. One in six couples now marry abroad according to Mintel, the market research firm.

Deciding to marry in a foreign country can be both exciting and daunting. Those who opt for Tuscany in Italy will be making one of the best choices. Not only because of the setting, but because the dedicated team of English speaking wedding co-ordinators who run Magic Tuscany (<http://www.magic-tuscany.com>) are amongst the most experienced in the area. The company is owned and run by Matt and Heather Purse, who are English and resident in Tuscany.

The cost of marrying in Tuscany (<http://www.magic-tuscany.com>) may well come as a pleasant surprise. Budget figures based on initial requirements can easily be supplied. Some couples decide to make a week long break away with friends and family, which can be a great way to relax leading up to the wedding.

Magic Tuscany will work with the bride and groom to offer the best advice on every aspect of the event, including paperwork, translation and regulations. Armed with the best local knowledge and contacts they can smooth the way from the start to plan every detail in order that this most important day will be the most memorable. To ensure a trouble-free day, the team will be on hand at all times.

The company can cater for wedding parties of 6 to 500 people, and whatever the requirement and budget they will work to give both bride and groom and their guests a day they will never forget.

Magic Tuscany - small enough to care, big enough to cope.
