

MagazineSubscription.co.uk has today announced it has updated its engine with the freshest deals on magazine subscriptions, to reflect the growing demand for specialist publications at this time of year.

Submitted by: Malcolm Ord

Tuesday, 3 February 2009

MagazineSubscription.co.uk (<http://www.MagazineSubscription.co.uk>) has today announced it has updated its engine with the freshest deals on magazine subscriptions, to reflect the growing demand for specialist publications at this time of year.

With hobbies and pastimes traditionally more popular after the Christmas and New Year period, there is often a flood of new potential subscribers, looking to take out a magazine subscription to support their new-found interest or New Year's resolution.

Malcolm Ord of MagazineSubscription.co.uk (www.magazinesubscription.co.uk) believes the special offers available across leading publications for the most popular hobbies and interests will allow customers to pick up a new pastime for less in the new year.

"At MagazineSubscription.co.uk, we collate special offers and pricing from all major magazines, and some more obscure publications too. As a result, MagazineSubscription.co.uk is the best place to check out what deals are on offer, before signing up for a trial or full subscription."

"People often take up a new hobby or interest as part of a New Year's resolution, such as some sport or exercise in a bid to shed those festive pounds, and subscribe to the appropriate magazine to support this new interest. With trial subscriptions available from as little as £1 for 3 issues, there's no time like the present to check out the magazine subscriptions on offer within your areas of interest."

MagazineSubscription.co.uk has compiled a collection of 3-issue trial subscriptions available for £1 at Hobby Magazines (<http://www.magazinesubscription.co.uk/category/Hobby-Magazines/>), for the benefit of customers looking to take up a new hobby in 2009.

About:

MagazineSubscription.co.uk (<http://www.MagazineSubscription.co.uk>) is an online magazine subscription comparison website, drawing together prices and special offers available on all major magazine publications across genre to allow easy comparison and to better inform purchasing decisions.

www.MagazineSubscription.co.uk