

Survey finds 50% of businesses have been affected by the recent snow – only 50% of staff could work from home

Submitted by: Cerco Communications

Wednesday, 4 February 2009

A survey of small office based business owners in Essex by Shadowfax Technology has revealed that 50% have been adversely affected by the recent heavy snow and out of these only 50% of the employees who couldn't make it into the office could work from home.

Says MD Adam Pedder "This week 75% of our calls to the help desk were for assistance from staff who found themselves unexpectedly at home, luckily for those businesses we were very quickly able to get staff logged on and working. With today's technology there is no reason why employees shouldn't be able to work from home when the need arises."

Whilst we can't influence the weather or how effectively the transport system runs as businesses we can ensure that all employees have an effective means of working from home. With further poor weather forecast now is the time to make sure people are able to keep working even if they remain home alone snow bound.

As a result of the survey Shadowfax <http://www.shadowfaxtechnology.co.uk> are now offering all their customers a review of their working from home facilities.

For more information or comment please contact Adam Pedder at Shadowfax Technology

Tel: 01279 813076 email: adam@sfax.co.uk

<http://www.shadowfaxtechnology.co.uk>

For further media information please contact Sabra Swinson or Jane Thompson at Cerco Communications

Tel: 01727 847407 077955 57094 email: sabra@cercocommunications.com or jane@cercocommunications.com

ENDS