

Eco Recession Busting Websites

Submitted by: Vyouz

Wednesday, 11 February 2009

The Vyouz Network has almost everything covered to help provide the eco conscious consumer with the tools needed to reduce the burden on their pockets and their impact on the environment.

Turbo-charged social networking facilities have been incorporated into every site which makes existing larger social networking websites look quite empty in comparison.

Based on the success of www.vskips.co.uk and the US version www.vdumpsters.com (which now include loads of extra features that encourage more use of "virtual skips" before dumping anything in a real skip), the following new sites have been launched:

- www.dropdeadgreen.co.uk – Clothes and accessories recycling site.
- www.bornrecycling.co.uk – Parental recycling site.
- www.studentcycle.co.uk – From universities to your local primary school.

Just a few of the additional sites being launched in 2009:

- Share My Transport - set to become the popular transport share schemes.
- Dying To Move – nail in the coffin for traditional estate agents.
- Gadget Cycle – from little kids to big kids recycling site.
- Cabbage Eggs – promoting local services and produce.
- Stock Wand – helping companies reduce their demand on landfill sites.
- GivAid - charitable arm of The Vyouz Network.

* All sites will be available in the USA with dot.com addresses

Go to: www.vyouz.com Email: info@vyouz.com Tel: 01246 251111 leave a message or

Email: len.willis@vyouz.com

The Vyouz Network is a pioneering and innovative team of individuals developing environmentally sensible websites, designed to be used as genuine tools-for-change, not just for information. With support from many other leading eco environmental sites around the world, Vyouz has a regular following of enthusiasts, helping promote their unique ideas.

Designed to support the environment as well as your pocket