Licensed Pilkington energiKare Partners, Hazlemere Windows, are launching an energy efficient, energy saving “A” rated UPVC window (<http://www.hazlemere.co.uk/windows/pvcuwindows.html>) at a Technology Showcase Exhibition with free admission, organised by W.D.C., the Energy Saving Trust and National Energy Foundation at the Reggie Goves Centre High Wycombe between 10.30am and 3pm on Saturday 21st March 2009.

The Energy Saving Trust advice centre has teamed up with Wycombe District Council to deliver this free Technology Showcase Exhibition where people can learn about generating their own energy in the home and save money on household bills.

In 2007 Hazlemere became the first company in the UK to design, manufacture and install an “A” rated dual frame aluminium energy saving window (<http://www.hazlemere.co.uk/windows/energyrated.html>) system.

This “ultimate” energy efficient double glazed aluminium window system has been endorsed by the Energy Saving Trust and British Fenestration Rating Council.

Hazlemere Windows will be exhibiting demonstration samples of their “A” rated aluminium window and launching the new addition to their range, a UPVC “A” rated energy saving window. As approved Pilkington energiKare Partners, Hazlemere supply Pilkington energiKare energy efficient, energy saving double glazing products.

This unique event will also be bringing a range of different technologies under one roof, enabling the general public to see and ask questions on specific energy saving and renewable technologies demonstrated by industry representatives. Advice will be available so that people can be better informed about the various technologies and solutions appropriate for their homes as well as grants and special offers available.

Entry to the exhibition is free and a selection of giveaways will be available including free energy saving light bulbs.

The Energy Saving Trust provides free impartial advice that can help save money and fight climate change by reducing carbon dioxide emissions from the home. Call 0800 512 012.

About The Energy Saving Trust

The Energy Saving Trust is the UK's leading organisation set up to address the damaging effects of climate change by helping everybody to cut carbon dioxide emissions- the main greenhouse gas causing climate change - from their homes. It promotes the efficient use of energy and a more low carbon lifestyle.

The Energy Saving Trust, through its network of "one-stop-shop" advice centres, provides free and impartial advice to consumers on saving energy, domestic renewables and greener transport, and is beginning to include water saving and waste reduction advice into its remit. The Energy Saving Trust also works with retailers, builders and industry to make sure that energy efficient products are available for people to choose as well as advising government on policies that are needed to cut greenhouses gases.
