

Have fun disguising yourself with new Make Masks product from Creative Charlie

Submitted by: Creative Charlie

Thursday, 19 March 2009

Creative Charlie (<http://www.creativecharlie.com>) is pleased to announce a new addition to their range of environmentally friendly art & craft products for kids - the make masks (<http://www.creativecharlie.com/page25.htm>) kit.

The box contains everything you need to make four fun masks;

There are four recycled cardboard cat shaped mask templates, and three water-based paints that are biodegradable and phalate free. A pot of washable glue, which like the paint, is wheat, gluten and nut oil free (ensuring that children with these allergies can play safely). A paintbrush, glue spreader and a pair of scissors. There is recycled sugar paper, feathers, pom-poms, paper shapes, paper straws and a recycled pencil to decorate with, along with elastic thread and an instruction sheet.

The make masks (<http://www.creativecharlie.com/page25.htm>) kit is an ideal gift for kids, parties, making your own fancy dress, or even Halloween.

Notes to editors:

Make Masks is available to purchase from www.creativecharlie.com, and is available with either right or left-handed scissors, ensuring that all children can interact.

All Creative Charlie products been designed and put together in the UK, using child-friendly materials which are either recycled or can be reused.

Creative Charlie was the overall winner of the Practical Pre-School Awards 2008, toys and games category. We were also shortlisted for the Hidden Art Most Environmentally Conscious Company Award 2009.

Contact for further information or hi-res images:

Kerri Sellens
director

Tel: 07828 570828

Email: mail@creativecharlie.com