Solihull NHS Care Trust selects Datix Patient Safety and Risk Management software to integrate risk and incident reporting

Datix Ltd, the UK market leader in software for patient safety and risk management announced today that Solihull NHS Care Trust has chosen Datix Patient Safety and Risk Management software. Solihull NHS Care Trust was established to deliver joined-up health and social services for the people of Solihull; providing healthcare, treatment and advice, support for carers, home, day and residential care and health promotion advice and guidance all under the control of one organisation.

Datix is a complete product which covers every aspect of the patient safety and risk management process and allows fast and accurate web-based reporting and communication. Datix has over 400 customers representing more than 75% of the National Health Service.

Solihull NHS Care Trust will use Datix for incident reporting, risk register, complaints, claims, Freedom of Information requests and to manage enquires and other contacts for the Patient Advice and Liaison Service (PALS) in an integrated, joined up way.

Terri Wilson, Risk Manager at Solihull NHS Care Trust said, "We constantly aim to bring better health and social care to Solihull. To do this, we concentrate on safe systems of care, simplifying the way we work, reducing delays, making good use of technology and the best use of our skilled staff. Datix will play a part in this strategy by joining all our safety and risk management systems together."

Jonathan Hazan, Managing Director of Datix added, "Solihull NHS Care Trust certainly understands the importance of good communication in risk and client safety and we look foward to working with them to implement Datix across the Care Trust to the benefit of patients, clients, staff and management. Our experience in the National Health Service makes us well placed to provide more than just software. Our consultancy and training services ensure that customers maximise the benefits of their investments and allow an integrated approach to risk and patient safety reporting. We are delighted to welcome Solihull to the Datix community."
