

MAKURA FROM MHS RADIATORS: HEATING COMFORT & CUDDLY CUSHIONS!

Submitted by: Red Cell

Wednesday, 15 April 2009

From the cutting edge of contemporary European design, the Makura from MHS Radiators is a fusion of soft fabric and hard-edged heating.

Makura's cushions are filled with cherry stones which retain and radiate warmth. Whether you remove the cushions to cuddle up to, or leave them in their aluminium frame, the Makura will certainly create a stir.

There are two versions – three cushions or a single cushion. The single cushion version measures 570mm square with an output of 639W. The triple version measures 2010mm high x 570mm wide with an output of 2.2kW and is available as either a vertical or horizontal model. Either version is available in polished or satin aluminium. To ensure that the radiator fits with the homeowner's colour schemes the cushions are available in blue, red, orange, black or white.

Makura is part of MHS Radiators' popular and wide ranging collection of ultramodern, modern and traditional radiators and towel rails and is available through the extensive UK network of MHS Radiator Display Centres – for details visit www.mhsradiators.com

A full selection of high resolution images from MHS Radiators is available at www.pressloft.com.

Ends

For media information and images, please contact:

Richard Belcham, Red Cell PR: 01376 561666 or richard@redcell.info