Remote Employment has announced the launch of the Remote Worker Awards (<http://www.remoteworkerawards.com>) to highlight how remote and home working benefits the environment and everyone's quality of work life.

The Remote Worker Awards comes at a time when thousands of people across the UK are faced with job losses or reduced hours. The awards aims to raise awareness for remote and home working as an alternate solution to redundancy and the traditional nine to five office routine.

The Work From Home Award

(<http://www.remoteemployment.com/pages.aspx?Work+at+Home=Work+From+Home+Award&p=257>) will give someone a new business, while another award gives a lucky winner a Penthouse Garden Office. One winner will walk away with their very own home based franchise (<http://www.remoteemployment.com/pages.aspx?Work+at+Home=Helen+O+Grady+Special+Award&p=297>) worth 15k and many other entrants will start a new life with their own home business.

With nine categories, including The Freelance Consultant Award

(<http://www.remoteemployment.com/pages.aspx?Work+at+Home=Freelance+Consultant+Award&p=258>) and The Remote Worker and Home Worker Awards

(<http://www.remoteemployment.com/pages.aspx?Work+at+Home=Remote+Worker+Award+&p=279>), winners will enjoy thousands of Pounds worth of prizes from a garden office, interior design, business starter kits and a mobile laptop to a fabulous luxury weekend at a von Essen Hotel (<http://www.clivedenhouse.co.uk>)!

Improving skills is an ideal way to increase job security in these uncertain employment times so The Open University Skills Award

(<http://www.remoteemployment.com/pages.aspx?Work+at+Home=The+Open+University+Skills+Award+&p=254>) is a great way to receive a brand new career. Anyone looking to re-train or re-skill following redundancy will be able to ease their way back into work.

Paula Wynne, organiser of the awards and co-founder of Remote Employment (<http://www.remoteemployment.com>), a job site specialising in flexible, remote and home working, expects to unearth an abundance of inventive pioneers who champion flexibility with remote working solutions!

Paula said: "The Remote Worker Awards will feature the winners in a Remote Worker E-Book to help other companies to implement a flexible and remote working program."
