Madonna is set to visit Barcelona as part of her huge Sticky & Sweet world tour in just a few short weeks.

The queen of pop will play at the Estadio Olimpico de Lluís - which is located within easy reach of the many Barcelona hotels (http://www.laterooms.com/en/k15765562_barcelona-hotels.aspx) - on July 21st in support of her latest album Hard Candy, which was released last year and has spawned the singles Miles Away, Give It 2 Me and 4 Minutes, the latter of which features Justin Timberlake.

However, Madge fans can rest assured that she will likely perform hits from her entire back catalogue, ranging from Holiday and Like a Prayer to Get Into the Groove and Hung Up.

The star, who was recently confirmed to be the face of Louis Vuitton's advertising campaign for the fashion house's 2009 autumn and winter collection, is famous for putting on elaborate and breathtaking shows that make use of spectacular special effects, lighting and dance routines.

Tickets for the event, which are on sale now, are available in a range of prices, from €65 (£56.39) to €175. Meanwhile, people keen to get up close and personal have an array of VIP packages to choose from. They begin at €378.50 and rise to €403.50.

In particular the hotel Pultzer is offering double rooms for two adults from £111, the normal rate is £287. It is located right in the heart of Barcelona and just 20 minutes from Plaza Catalunya. This hotel has been rated as four stars and has an excellent customer rating of 85%
