Marc Watches a young independent brand has launched a new e-commerce website featuring a collection of Ladies (<http://www.marcwatches.co.uk/index.php?cPath=23>) and Gents (<http://www.marcwatches.co.uk/index.php?cPath=22>) classic modern styled watches both elegant and refined in appearance.

Working in partnership with Macmillan Cancer Support, Marc Watches offers a saving of 20% off the listed prices and will also donate a further £10.00 to the charity for all Macmillan supporters (http://www.marcwatches.co.uk/information.php?info_id=6) including their family, friends and work colleagues who purchase a watch.

Mark Luton Director of Marc Watches said:

“After many years working in the watch industry I have finally achieved my dream of owning my own watch company. At Marc we have one simple aim and that is to manufacture quality watches at truly affordable prices.

Each style of watch that we offer is the result of many hours of dedicated work both in design and manufacture. Each watch features refined design, quality materials and meticulous finishing, a pleasant accessory on any wrist. The watches are only available online at www.marcwatches.co.uk, they are not available in stores.

I am delighted to be working with Macmillan Cancer Support and hope people will join me in supporting this great Charity and the wonderful work it carries out.”

Sharon Battersby Fundraising Manager of Macmillan Cancer Support said:

“It is fantastic to have Marc Watches support our cause to help individuals and their families who are affected by cancer and it is with heartfelt thanks that we welcome Marc Watches as a new partner. The watches look superb and we wish Marc Watches every success.”
