

Keep Your Glasses On All Summer With Foster Grant's New Sun Readers

Submitted by: Steve Stubbs Marketing Management

Wednesday, 15 July 2009

Foster Grant has launched its 2009 collection of ready-to-wear "two-in-one" Sun Readers, a unique combination of sunglasses and reading glasses that conveniently enables you to wear just one pair for your eyewear needs.

The new sun readers range is ideal for the garden, on holiday, at the beach or just everyday use. The top half of each lens works like normal sunglasses while the bottom half of each lens is magnified at the strength of your choice, and is almost un-noticeable so no one knows you're wearing reading glasses.

The stylish sun readers range is exclusive to the nation's leading distributor of ready-to-wear optical quality reading glasses. The collection features distortion free lenses with anti-scratch coating, offers 100% protection from harmful UVA and UVB rays and is available in a selection of the most popular lens strengths.

Foster Grant's Sun Readers are safe, effective and easy to buy. They're also fantastic value at £12.99, so you can afford to take an extra pair with you, wherever you're going this summer. For more information, to find a store near you or to buy online go to www.fostergrant.co.uk.

Contact:- Steve Stubbs
07799 648354
steve@stevestubbs.co.uk