

Barcelona Summer Festival looks set to bring in over 50,000 music lovers, with superstar DJs Tiesto, David Guetta and many more, 3-9th August 2009

Submitted by: IMD

Friday, 24 July 2009

Barcelona Summer Week 2009 (<http://www.barcelonasummerweek.com>)

Week long fiesta (http://www.barcelonasummerweek.com/index_main.php?idioma=en) brings together the biggest DJ's (http://www.barcelonasummerweek.com/index_main.php?idioma=en) on the planet

7 days, 30 clubs (<http://www.barcelonasummerweek.com>), 7 beaches, 250 events, over 100 DJ's and 50,000 people

The biggest names in dance music will descend on Barcelona from the 3rd to 9th August 2009 for the inaugural Barcelona Summer Week Festival.

Superstar DJs such as Tiësto, David Guetta, Layo & Bushwacka!, Erick Morillo, Armin Van Buuren, Sander Kleinenberg and Fedde Le Grand, will be amongst the many DJs to play host at parties across the capital during the week-long fiesta.

Barcelona – capital of culture and style, home to Discotheque, Eibisi, Opium Mar, Sotavento, Atlantic Club, El Chiringuito Marbella and just a short ferry stop to Ibiza – is already one of the leading dance music destinations in Europe. Barcelona Summer Week looks set to cement the city as the epicentre as it plays host to a stream of elaborately planned parties at open-air venues, the coolest clubs and venues across the capital with pool, beach and boat parties to rival those of the Miami music conference.

The week-long festival will culminate in a two day extravaganza at the Montjuic area against the backdrop of the historic and vibrant city. This is close to the port and the airport and very easy to get to on the Metro Lines and Buses.

The festival already looks set to draw more than 50,000 music lovers from across the Iberian Peninsula, Europe and beyond.

For more information, artwork, interviews please contact Kate Matheou / IMD PR / Kate@imd.dj / +44 7931 423646

For Full Line Up, Programmes & Tickets : www.barcelonasummerweek.com