Widget UK Ltd, (<http://www.widget.co.uk>) the consumer electronics distributor, announces the availability of the Omnimount (<http://www.omnimount.com/>) range of flat panel mounts through retailers and etailers in the UK.

The Omnimount range combines all of the advantages of a traditional fixed flat panel mount with the highest level of versatility and affordability.

The flagship of the range is the OMF - a revolutionary product which is the strongest mount on the market today. It allows anyone to mount a medium-sized flat panel TV in three easy steps without even having to locate a stud. The OMF accommodates any flat panel, 13 to 42 inches and up to 40 pounds in drywall alone or flat panel TVs up to 80 pounds if mounted into a single stud or concrete.

The OMF (<http://www.theomnimount.com/>) includes everything you need for a smooth and fool-proof installation right out of the box. The four separate wall brackets work with any and all hole patterns on flat panel TVs, providing the highest level of compatibility; and two comprehensive installation templates are provided to ensure simple and accurate mounting every time. Designed with safety in mind, the OMF features the company's exclusive Lift n' Lock™ technology to protect the consumer and the television by providing an easy way to attach the flat panel to the mount and secure it to the wall. Most notably, once mounted the product virtually disappears behind the flat panel, therefore making it ideal for today's increasingly slimmer flat panel TVs.

"The added value margin opportunities which the Omnimount range provides will help specialist retailers get the most out of their flat screen sales," said Widget sales director Bart Hoorntje.

"Omnimount EMEA is excited to have Widget as its consumer product distributor and look forward to gaining momentum in this market place through our joint efforts" said Omnimount (<http://www.omnimount.com/>) managing director Neil Curry.

At CES in 2010, Omnimount (<http://www.omnimount.com/>) was honoured with two Innovations Design & Engineering awards – one of which went to the OMF (<http://www.theomnimount.com/>). These highly coveted awards have been seen as an industry hallmark since 1976 and achieving these honours is just another testament to the quality design and engineering that goes in to each and every OmniMount product.

The MSRP of the OMF is £29.99. Prices for other mounts and part numbers available on request.
