Leading student accommodation (<http://www.crm-students.com/>) provider, CRM Students is working flat out to support the last minute rush in securing student accommodation in the Bristol area. Thanks to recent new developments such as King Square Studios (<http://www.crm-students.com/student-accommodation/uk/bristol/>), there is still the last few spaces before this weekend's imminent move in weekend commences.

Laura Shuckburgh of CRM explained, "King Square Studios in Bristol has really shown how the student market is changing. As we have seen in so many column inches over the last twelve to eighteen months, today's students are looking for accommodation that provides the creature comforts, without any nasty surprises from utility bills.

Secondary to this is the competition within the student accommodation marketplace; standards are high in properties such as King Square Studios (<http://www.crm-students.com/student-accommodation/uk/bristol/33/king-square-studios/2/>) and in fact, this particular site has really raised the bar by providing a home cinema, a games loft and modern facilities in each of the studios."

Daniel Richardson, a student who will be in his first year at Bristol this year, is in the process of preparing to move into King Square Studios. He explained, "Once you know you have secured your place you feel a huge sense of relief - and excitement. The next challenge is finding somewhere that fits: I decided I wanted something that was not only close by but felt like I was in Halls - without the downside. King Square Studios (<http://www.crm-students.com/student-accommodation/uk/bristol/33/king-square-studios/2/>) looks modern and seems to provide the home comforts that I am looking for: broadband, nice televisions and the utility bills are included. I was worried about that side of things and how I would afford extra stuff."

King Square Studios is located directly opposite the Bristol University Campus at Clifton and has 243 studios, comes with the support of an on-site full-time student accommodation (<http://www.crm-students.com/>) management team, parking and many other facilities, so that students and their families have complete peace of mind.
