

Take a deep breath thanks to new Lotus Olbas Facial Tissues

Submitted by: Bray Leino

Monday, 20 December 2010

The clever girl's way of keeping a clear head, Lotus Olbas tissues are there when you most need them. The product combines the luxurious softness of Lotus tissues and the vapour releasing power of family favourite Olbas.

Originally available in a handy pocket pack the comforting combination now also comes in the larger facial tissue box - meaning that you can always have a stash of this comforting tissue on hand at home – or in the office - as well as on the go.

The tissues are embedded with tiny oil capsules that when crushed release soothing vapours, so whether you're busy 'keeping all the balls' in the air, or simply recuperating at home, they'll help you keep breathing easy.

Crush the Tissue, Release the Vapours

Lotus Olbas Facial Tissues are implanted using ground-breaking crush technology. The mixture of natural vapours including menthol, eucalyptus, juniper berries and cajuput are only released when the tissue is crushed.

Say hello to Lotus Olbas Tissues

Pocket pack or facial tissue, cold sufferers can reach for a Lotus Olbas Tissue, wherever and whenever they need. What a breath of fresh air!

Lotus Olbas Facial Tissues are available at Boots, Sainsbury's and other major retailers at £2.29 (MRRSP).

-ENDS-

Notes to editors

There is a range of Olbas products, including Olbas Oil, which is a special mixture of pure plant oils with ingredients including clove oil, eucalyptus, juniper berry and cajuput. This combination of natural ingredients produces those famously soothing and relieving vapours.

Lotus Olbas Tissues are also available in handy pocket-sized single packs retailing at 59p and £1.53 for a six pack in Boots and other major retailers.

For more information, photography or samples please contact Hayley Laggan on: 0117 973 1173 or hlaggan@brayleino.co.uk