Travelzest owned VFB Holidays has revealed it is cutting the cost of going to France with a special promotional offer on return ferry crossings, running right through till the 30th of April 2011.

The special offers will mean that customers can book a holiday cottage in France with VFB Holidays at any time during the month of April 2011 and they will get a discounted rate on a return ferry crossing with Sea France, which will save them £226 on the normal peak crossing rate for a car.

The offer is exclusive to VFB Holidays and gives travellers the ability to make the crossing from Dover to Calais at any time during the 2011 holiday season - even on peak times and dates. This represents real value for money within the industry, highlighting a commitment to affordable travel to our luxury destinations.

VFB Holidays' Philippe Pozzi said: "This is a fantastic offer for Travelzest's VFB Holidays customers. It enables them to make a significant saving on the cost of their holiday and they can travel with Sea France whenever they like. It really is an offer not to be missed if you're thinking of taking time away this year at one of our holiday cottages."

VFB Holidays first pioneered self-catering cottage holidays in France back in the 1970s and is still recognised as one of the best UK Tour Companies to France. Its portfolio includes a huge range of cottages and villas in France and beyond. It also offers escorted tours and relaxing river cruises as part of its holiday mix.

Details of the France holiday offers (<http://www.travelzest.com/en/france-offers>) are available online at the Travelzest website, with a highlight of some of the holiday cottages available over the period available also. Bookings are available over the phone, with details provided to do so.
