Langley Castle - no ordinary hotel

This fabulous and unique castle, built in 1350, during the reign of Edward III, has retained its architectural integrity and is regarded as one of the very few medieval fortified Castle Hotels in England.

Set in its own woodland estate, the Castle's 7 feet thick walls provide a peaceful and tranquil refuge in which to escape from today's hustle and bustle to a bygone age, making it the perfect destination for that special break.

All bedrooms are individual and unique with private facilities, many with four-poster beds and feature bathrooms.

Langley Castle provides the perfect romantic Wedding venue, with its beautiful and historic chapel high on the ramparts, with stunning views to the north of Hadrian's Wall. The Castle is also the ideal venue for private functions, exclusive use, exceptional dining, or just a weekend getaway in Northumberland. The Castle is the ideal centre from which to explore the north of England's wild and beautiful countryside and history, or just shop in either Carlisle or Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

Langley Castle is no ordinary Hotel... It is an experience and an inspiration!
