Bruntwood is well known for supplying office space (<http://www.bruntwood.co.uk/office/>) but you may not realise that we also offer professional meeting rooms.

The Red Rooms form a network of conference facilities in Bruntwood offices across Manchester, Birmingham, Liverpool and Leeds. These are suitable for various corporate needs, including board meetings, job interviews, breakfast events, staff training sessions and away days.

Flexibility is a key feature of Bruntwood's conference facilities

(<http://www.bruntwood.co.uk/meeting-rooms/>). There are more than 70 Red Rooms to choose from, which can cater for as few as two people or as many as 150. And you can opt to hire them out by the hour, the half day or the full day.

Unlike some conference facilities, refreshments are included as standard in all Red Rooms. Meanwhile, special dining requests such as breakfast or evening meals can be arranged for a small additional fee.

We also recognise that it's important for many businesses to be able to access the latest technology without having to worry about the cost. That's why we provide high-tech audio visual equipment in every Red Room. Furthermore, you can even use video conferencing in Manchester, Leeds, Knutsford, Liverpool and Birmingham.

At Bruntwood, we want to help your company get the most out of your meetings. All of our conference facilities are looked after by customer service staff, who will be on hand to help with last-minute problems, arrange taxis and book restaurant tables as appropriate.

To find out more about our conference facilities, call 0800 6300 105 or visit the Bruntwood website.
